

The Alchemist Group

Transforming Business Opportunities

The Alchemist Group can provide Asian sourcing, subcontracting, or turnkey manufacturing solutions for small- to mid-sized manufacturers, and helps you discover long-term cost competitiveness and increased production capabilities.

Just as alchemists of old focused their efforts on transforming the basic elements of the earth into new substances, paving the way for modern-day chemistry advances, The Alchemist Group opens new doors for today's pioneering manufacturers. We help your business reduce costs, and subsequently increase profits, in a global economy.

Alchemist will help you explore international opportunities that address issues affecting your company's profitability.

Increased Manufacturing Capacity Needs

Margin Erosion • Rising Labor Costs • New Competitive Threats

Non-Competitive Manufacturing Environment Constraints

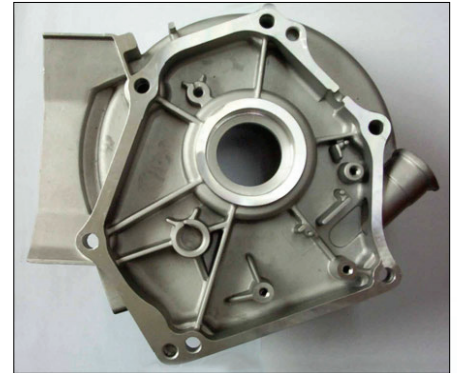

Dissatisfaction with Growth, Manufacturing, or Supply Chains

Alchemist understands that as the world is getting smaller your manufacturing firm's market for products is expanding. Global competition is keen, and you face new challenges at every turn. The Alchemist Group creates value for today's manufacturers by improving profitability through leveraging 50 years of combined international management and manufacturing expertise. With Alchemist on your side, you, as a business owner, can spend time focusing on core business strengths while Alchemist develops and nurtures profitable Asian sourcing relationships.

The Alchemist Group takes the fear out of overseas business dealings while reducing risk. Alchemist develops the Asian supply chain that makes sense for you, paying attention to details in quality, intellectual property, timeliness of quotes, and engineering assistance.

The Alchemist Group is headquartered in Minneapolis with offices in Bangkok, Thailand, and Ningbo, China. Associates in Asia provide on-location engineering, procurement, and quality control support.

The Alchemist will provide complete solutions and well-defined strategies aimed at meeting your specific business needs. Contact The Alchemist Group through one of our principals or sales team leaders.
